LEADERSHIP PARENTING

MOTHER GOPI GITA

PRODUCTIVE PARENTS

You can see the parents in your teams, though committed, are exhausted by having to juggle both work and family life. Because they're vital to the success of your initiatives, their challenges are your challenges. You feel frustrated, worried, and tired of having to ask them to prioritize, to work overtime, or to navigate schedules. You can see when their hearts aren't into it and they're divided. You may even carry internal guilt - how can you help them succeed in areas where you have no control? How can you make them want to commit more energy to you and the team?

Help your parent employees feel like a special breed: nurtured, cared for team members. Give them balance: happy family and high productivity at work.

Connect their home and work by offering them a beautiful evening of luxurious care with a Leadership Parenting Workshop.

These are set up for optimal connection and growth. Be ready for a massive paradigm shift in your team. Your employees will be able to implement the strategies they learn immediately at home, and feel harmony that will translate directly to results at work.
